

IRWA REGION 7
2017 SPRING FORUM
ANCHORAGE, ALASKA
APRIL 21ST, 2017

The 2017 Spring Forum is scheduled for Friday, April 21st in Anchorage Alaska. Prior to the 2017 International Education Conference in June (summer) in Anchorage Chapter 49 cordially invites you to Anchorage in April to experience 'break-up' (see below) Alaska style.

The schedule of events will look like this:

- Wednesday April 19th & Thursday April 20th – IRWA Course 400 Principles of Real Estate Appraisal – Instructor David Burgoyne, course held at the Anchorage Hilton
- Friday April 21st – 2017 Spring Forum - held at the Anchorage Hilton
- Saturday, April 22nd – Trip to the Alaska Wildlife Conservation Center in Portage – 45 minutes south of Anchorage

The host-hotel for the Spring Forum is the Hilton Anchorage (<http://www3.hilton.com/en/hotels/alaska/hilton-anchorage-ANCAHHF/index.html>); room rates for the Forum are $129/night – reference IRWA when making your reservations.

The Hilton does not have shuttle service from the airport and Anchorage does not have Uber, however there are a number of taxi services available from the airport.

For Course 400 Principles of Real Estate Appraisal register online at <http://www.irwaonline.org>

Register online at the Chapter 49 website: <https://www.irwaalaska.org/> or mail the registration form (below) to IRWA Region 7 Spring Forum 2017, PO Box 554554, Anchorage, AK 99503

Breakup - Breakup signals springtime in Alaska. It's the time of year when the frozen rivers break apart and flow again. In town, the snow melts, leaving enormous puddles, dirty cars, and generally quite a mess. It's not a great time of year to travel in the backcountry because the snowpack is gone but the ground hasn't dried out yet.
